H333CICS

Sentence

1 THE DEPUTY CLERK: United States v. Ciccarella.

2 Counsel, please state your appearances for the record.

3 MR. OKULA: Good afternoon, your Honor. Stanley Okula
4 for the United States. With me is Barbara Renkin from the 5 Internal Revenue Service.

6 MR. KESTENBAUM: Richard Kestenbaum, I represent the 7 defendant Joseph Ciccarella who is seated beside me.

8 THE COURT: Good afternoon, Mr. Kestenbaum. Good
9 afternoon, Mr. Ciccarella.

10 I want to recognize Mr. Nicolo DiMaria and Alicia
11 Geiser, probation officers.

12 Mr. Ciccarella, it is my duty to sentence you today.
13 Have you read the presentence investigative report?

14 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I have, your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Have you discussed it with Mr. Kestenbaum?

16 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I have.

17 THE COURT: Mr. Kestenbaum, are there any factual
18 errors that have not yet been corrected?

19 MR. KESTENBAUM: No, your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Does the government know any, Mr. Okula?

21 MR. OKULA: The only small one is the following, your 22 Honor, and this emerged --

23 THE COURT: It's been fixed?

24 MR. OKULA: It has not been fixed.

25 THE COURT: Which one is that?

H333CICS

Sentence

1 MR. OKULA: It emerged in some of the letters or I
2 think in one of the communications involving Mr. DiMaria, that 3 Mr. Ciccarella is the owner, in addition to the two vehicles in 4 the asset statement in the PSR, also of a Ferrari vehicle that 5 is not reflected, no value is reflected on that in the 6 presentence report. And I would just --

7 THE COURT: Where is that?

8 MR. OKULA: On page 13, paragraph 75. There are two
9 vehicles listed. One is a 2015 Lincoln MKC, there is a 2007
10 Lamborghini vehicle. But in the communications, in various 11 letters that were submitted, there was a reference to a Ferrari
12 that exists as well. So, there is no value that's been put on 13 that. In the spirit of accuracy, in making sure all the 14 defendant's assets are listed, I would ask that Mr. Kestenbaum
15 provide some sort of proffer about the value of that so it
16 would be added to the PSR.

17 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, the vehicle that 18 Mr. Okula is referring to --

19 THE COURT: Louder please, gentlemen.

20 MR. KESTENBAUM: The vehicle that --

21 THE COURT: Mr. Ciccarella, you can sit down.

22 MR. KESTENBAUM: The vehicle that Mr. Okula is 23 referring to has been off the road for 10 years. It has been 24 parked in his mother's garage unused for 10 years. I don't
25 know it has any value now. I guess --

H333CICS

Sentence

1 THE COURT: Why wasn't it disclosed?

2 MR. KESTENBAUM: He forgot about it, quite frankly.

3 He hasn't seen the car in 10 years. He hasn't used it.

4 THE COURT: It's in his garage.

5 MR. KESTENBAUM: It is in his mother's house. And it
6 was in the presentence investigation report. When Mr. DiMaria
7 interviewed Mr. Ciccarella, he noticed a poster from Ferrari
8 and he asked why Mr. Ciccarella had the poster. Mr. Ciccarella
9 told him that he remembered now that he also had that car
10 that's been sitting for 10 years unused, and doesn't start, and 11 I don't know if it has any value at this point, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

13 MR. OKULA: Other than that, we have nothing else,
14 your Honor.

15 THE COURT: I find the facts as stated in the 16 presentence investigation report, except that paragraph 75
17 shall add the Ferrari. Mr. Kestenbaum will give the details
18 and provide the estimate of no value. So you better,
19 Mr. Kestenbaum, look for yourself, because 10-year-old Ferraris
20 tend to have value, even if they're not road worthy.

21 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, it is not a 10-year-old
22 car. It's been sitting for 10 years. It is a 1992.

23 THE COURT: Maybe it has more value then.

24 MR. KESTENBAUM: I don't know. I honestly don't know
25 what the value is.

H333CICS

Sentence

1 THE COURT: Find out.

2 MR. KESTENBAUM: I will.

3 THE COURT: It's in the interest of full disclosure,
4 right?

5 MR. KESTENBAUM: Yes.

6 THE COURT: So fix it up. Fix it up by next Tuesday.
7 Other than that, I find the facts set out in the investigative
8 report.

9 First task is to set out an analysis of the 10 guidelines. The offense level is found under Section 2T4.1(g).
11 And because the tax loss is greater than $250,000 and less than 12 $550,000, the base offense level is 18. I find that there has 13 been a demonstration of acceptance of responsibility on a
14 timely basis, so that the net offense level becomes 15.
15 There's no criminal history points. A net offense level of 15
16 yields a range of custodial punishment of 18 to 24 months under 17 the guidelines, followed by supervised release of one to three 18 years.

19 Do I have it right, Mr. Okula?

20 MR. OKULA: Yes, your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Mr. Kestenbaum?

22 MR. KESTENBAUM: Yes, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: I so find.

24 Mr. Kestenbaum, the floor is yours.

25 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, much of what I have to

H333CICS

Sentence

1 say I've already said in my presentence submission.

2 THE COURT: Which I've read with all the letters that 3 have come in.

4 MR. KESTENBAUM: I appreciate that. I do want to 5 emphasize a few points, however. Most important, your Honor,
6 defendant has accepted his responsibility fully for the 7 position he finds himself in today. His decision to try to 8 save his failing businesses by taking money from one company
9 and using it to pay the expenses of another company was, plain
10 and simple, a bad decision, and resulted in the filing of bad
11 tax returns.

12 However, as the probation department has recognized,
13 the defendant has suffered from anxiety and depression for many 14 years, and was addicted to opioids during the relevant periods
15 in this case. While he's not blaming his tax problems on his 16 drug and psychological issues, his life was completely out of 17 control during these years.

18 He's now engaged in meaningful therapy and is no
19 longer actively using drugs that he was addicted to.

20 Notwithstanding the government's assertions that 21 Mr. Ciccarella personally benefited from his actions, our 22 forensic accountant's analysis submitted to your Honor with our 23 sentencing memorandum, which were not refuted by the 24 government, shows otherwise. It shows that when all is said
25 and done, Mr. Ciccarella took out of pocket an additional

H333CICS

Sentence

1 $357,000 of his personal savings, beyond the business checks he
2 cashed, in order to try to save the failing businesses.

3 Your Honor, I respectfully request that you grant
4 Mr. Ciccarella an opportunity to continue his therapy, allow 5 him to continue to run his business, and employ the 40 people
6 that now work for him, so he can find his way back to being a
7 fully law-abiding citizen.

8 I want to point out, your Honor, there are more than a
9 dozen people in the courtroom this morning, both family members
10 and employees, here to support Mr. Ciccarella.

11 Thank you, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Can you run through the analysis, this 13 forensic analysis.

14 MR. KESTENBAUM: I can, your honor.

15 THE COURT: I don't think I have it.

16 MR. KESTENBAUM: It's at the very end of the 17 sentencing submission.

18 THE COURT: In the attachments?

19 MR. KESTENBAUM: Yes. Marked as Exhibit B. It is the 20 last three pages of the submission.

21 THE COURT: Do you have an extra copy?

22 I have it.

23 MR. KESTENBAUM: You have it?

24 THE COURT: Who prepared this?

25 MR. KESTENBAUM: It was prepared by Focus Forensic

H333CICS

Sentence

1 Accountants, that are former special agents in the Internal
2 Revenue Service.

3 THE COURT: Why didn't they sign it?

4 MR. KESTENBAUM: I didn't ask them to, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: That's not much credibility if you don't
6 have an accountant's signature.

7 MR. KESTENBAUM: By the way, your Honor, this had been 8 submitted during the investigation to Mr. Okula and to the 9 special agents. This is not something that is new. The 10 summary page --

11 THE COURT: Do you want me to take it into
12 consideration in sentencing? Because I raised the question
13 about having cashed these checks as a way of self-improvement
14 rather than plunging it into the business, so it is very much 15 in your interest to show that the money went into saving the 16 businesses.

17 It is very hard to understand how a person starts with 18 nothing, and builds assets of $5 million, less a net worth of 19 two and a quarter million dollars, and has failed businesses.
20 Businesses are not failing if you're producing that much money.

21 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, he had a successful
22 business and two failing businesses. And the successful
23 businesses were used -- the business was used to carry the 24 failing businesses. And he had reported, earned and reported
25 hundreds of thousands of dollars of income that he paid tax on

H333CICS

Sentence

1 for many years. He was successful for a time.

2 THE COURT: But also using unlawful means to help
3 finance that as well.

4 MR. KESTENBAUM: No, that's not correct, your Honor.
5 There were many years that Mr. Ciccarella was successful, and 6 did accumulate assets, and did run a successful business. But 7 he got involved with these two other businesses that became 8 unsuccessful.

9 THE COURT: So instead of using his own money, or in 10 addition to using his own money, he helped himself to 11 government money.

12 MR. KESTENBAUM: He used both, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Yes. Okay. The PSR tells me you have in 14 escrow the back money that's owed to the IRS.

15 MR. KESTENBAUM: I have already turned it over to the 16 Internal Revenue Service.

17 THE COURT: All that restitution is paid?

18 MR. KESTENBAUM: Fully paid. There will be an 19 interest bill that comes with it when the Internal Revenue
20 Service processes the amended tax returns that were already 21 submitted. When that bill comes, it will be paid.

22 THE COURT: Is there a penalty assessment involved?

23 MR. KESTENBAUM: If the IRS assesses penalty, we'll 24 pay that as well. The returns have to be processed. It will 25 take a bit of a time, but the special agent working on this

H333CICS

Sentence

1 case has sent the returns in for processing.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Okula.

3 MR. OKULA: Just very briefly, your Honor. As your 4 Honor knows, we tried to submit a thorough and comprehensive 5 sentencing submission in connection with this case. There are 6 a couple of points that I wish to emphasize, your Honor.

7 First, and I know it's not lost on the Court, but it
8 bears emphasis. The fact that the defendant took these 9 proceeds of the tax crime and put them into another business
10 to, even if you credit the fact that he did it to prop it up,
11 it's not unlike a situation where he was playing the stock
12 market or going to Atlantic City. He was using it for personal
13 purposes, your Honor, in order to make further money from a 14 separate entrepreneurial endeavor. So instead of paying the 15 government the taxes, and using his ample assets by, for 16 instance, remortgaging his home or selling the Lamborghini in 17 order to do it, he essentially stole from his fellow citizens,
18 taxpayers, to prop that up.

19 THE COURT: Since money is fungible, money is usable
20 in many different ways, including as has been charged.

21 MR. OKULA: Yes, your Honor. That's the point I want
22 to make. And I think it bears emphasizing, too, your Honor,
23 and one of the points we tried to make, that the guidelines
24 here of 18 to 24 months reflect the sound judgment of the 25 sentencing commission about where within the range this

H333CICS

Sentence

1 defendant falls as pursuant to his tax crime. The mitigating
2 factors that the defendant has set forth in his papers, we
3 submit, do not justify either the sentence that they request,
4 that is complete probation, or even the one that the 5 experienced probation officer recommended. I have the --

6 THE COURT: In the government's understanding, you
7 think these businesses will remain alive and 40 people will 8 remain employed?

9 MR. OKULA: I'm not convinced, your Honor, that the 10 business is going to dissipate or it can't go on without the 11 defendant. In fact, if that's something that the Court is 12 going to hinge its determination on, I suggest that we have a 13 hearing with respect to that. I don't think it does.

14 But even if it did, the defendant, by taking the 15 actions that he did, your Honor, he himself made the decision
16 to put those businesses in peril by engaging in the acts he 17 did, year after year that he did.

18 So I understand that it's an important 3553 factor for 19 the Court to take into consideration, collateral consequences
20 with respect to the punishment. But I submit, your Honor,
21 that -- and I have the greatest respect for the probation
22 officer and what they do, but they got it wrong here, Judge.
23 One of the bases of their recommendation is the fact that, and 24 it's set out in the rationale, two of the bases were the fact
25 he had agreed to pay restitution, and it is his first-time

H333CICS

Sentence

1 offense.

2 Well, the first-time offense status is taken into
3 consideration with respect to the criminal history category,
4 your Honor, so I respectfully submit that shouldn't be an
5 important factor to rely on. And the fact that he has agreed
6 to pay --

7 THE COURT: Every tax fraud I've had is a first
8 offense.

9 MR. OKULA: Just about, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Every securities fraud I've had, just 11 about every securities fraud I've had is a first offense.

12 MR. OKULA: That's correct.

13 THE COURT: Business crimes tend to be first offenses.

14 MR. OKULA: And they tend to be longer and more
15 intricate offenses, which show a level of consciousness and 16 planning and decision-making to violate known legal duties,
17 rather than spur-of-the-moment decision-making.

18 I was struck, your Honor, by sitting through the 19 sentencing in the prior proceeding where your Honor had a
20 gut-wrenching decision to make based on some horrible facts
21 about the defendant's past and his upbringing. And I was 22 struck because this case is so different than that, in that the 23 defendant enjoyed financial security, financial wealth, and 24 yet, notwithstanding that, he made the conscious decision to 25 engage in the criminal conduct that he did.

H333CICS

Sentence

1 What will the Court be saying, your Honor, if the
2 Court credits probation's rationale that all you have to do is
3 pay the money back and you're going to be walked out of court
4 for an offense involving this magnitude. I suggest it is the 5 wrong message.

6 I would refer back to the words of Judge Weinfeld --

7 THE COURT: It doesn't show respect for law if I don't
8 give some kind of custodial punishment.

9 MR. OKULA: Yes. Stated otherwise, it would be a
10 horrible message for general deterrence. If tax evaders out
11 there knew that you can get a pass simply because it involved
12 only about $300,000 and three years' worth of willful behavior.

13 I would harken back, your Honor, to the words of Judge
14 Weinfeld. I know your Honor read our submission. And Judge
15 Weinfeld had the quote that we captured in our sentencing memo, 16 and he said at the end of his sentence that he imposed in 17 United States v. Tana, "I have been of the view that unless a
18 citizen lives up to his responsibility, there must follow,
19 barring extraordinary circumstance, a term of imprisonment as 20 an example to the other people in the community."

21 THE COURT: Yes. I subscribe to that.

22 MR. OKULA: I respectfully submit, your Honor, listen,
23 Judge, I've been doing this for over 25 years. I understand
24 there are nuances in cases, and I understand that people
25 sitting in my position right here don't have credibility with

H333CICS

Sentence

1 the Court if we come in and we just say in every case "you must 2 impose a guideline sentence." And we're not saying 18 to 24 is 3 an absolute requirement in this case, Judge. But what we are 4 saying, Judge, most respectfully, is some measure of 5 incarceration is necessary to send the important, vitally
6 important message of general deterrence. Thank you.

7 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Okula.

8 Mr. Ciccarella -- do you want to respond first,
9 Mr. Kestenbaum?

10 MR. KESTENBAUM: I do for a moment, your Honor. I
11 don't want to belabor any points, but I think that the 12 probation department did get it right. I don't think that they 13 relied --

14 THE COURT: Mr. Kestenbaum, I'm not affected by 15 probation's punishment. It is my responsibility. They give me
16 suggestions. I'm not bound by what they do. I have to make up
17 my own mind.

18 MR. KESTENBAUM: When you do that, I would hope you
19 take into account the number of people that are going to get
20 affected by an incarceration sentence here.

21 THE COURT: Who is the running the business now?

22 MR. KESTENBAUM: Mr. Ciccarella is running the 23 business. There is nobody there who can run this business 24 he --

25 THE COURT: How old is his son?

H333CICS

Sentence

1 MR. KESTENBAUM: 26 years old.

2 THE COURT: He's in the business, isn't he?

3 MR. KESTENBAUM: He works in the business. He is not
4 capable of running the business.

5 THE COURT: Too many fathers say that about their
6 sons. Maybe the son's got to step up.

7 MR. KESTENBAUM: It takes time to do that, and now is 8 not the time to start learning.

9 THE COURT: His father's available. He's in jail, but 10 he's available.

11 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, perhaps there is an 12 opportunity to have a home confinement where he can go to work
13 and run his business, and still have some sentence. Thank you.

14 THE COURT: A possibility.

15 Mr. Ciccarella?

16 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

17 Your Honor, I stand before you totally embarrassed for 18 what I have done. I have ruined my marriage, I have set a poor 19 example for my children, and nearly bankrupted myself in the 20 process. I know I am responsible for all of this.

21 I beg for your compassion and understanding as I await 22 your sentence. What I did was wrong, and I take full 23 accountability for it, it was my fault. I have ruined my life
24 to this point, but I'm trying very hard to put it back
25 together. Honoring all the debts that need to be repaid. I

H333CICS

Sentence

1 have paid restitution to the government, I'm regularly seeing a
2 psychiatrist and a psychologist, so that I may better
3 understand some of the decision-making skills that I had at 4 that time and make --

5 THE COURT: It's been reported to me that every time
6 you've seen a psychologist, you have been able to manipulate
7 the psychologist and do whatever you wanted to do a moment
8 afterwards.

9 THE DEFEDANT: Your Honor, that is -- that would be my 10 estranged wife's opinion of that matter.

11 THE COURT: Isn't the fact --

12 THE DEFEDANT: I was unfaithful.

13 THE COURT: Well, beyond the unfaithfulness, you went 14 to couples therapy with her, and you bragged initially about 15 being able to satisfy the therapist, then do whatever you want
16 to do afterwards.

17 THE DEFEDANT: Your Honor, that is totally incorrect,
18 and I'll state that when I saw that letter, I was very upset
19 because where that comes from, and maybe McCallister, my lawyer
20 over here, can better explain. This letter was the one that 21 you were to get. Right up until I refused to hand $6 million
22 over to her. I was given a threat, and Dennis can attest to 23 that.

24 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, I did not know whether 25 you were going to make reference to that letter or not, but

H333CICS

Sentence

1 having done that, I need to explain the circumstances of that
2 letter.

3 As you know, your Honor, it is a crime in this state
4 for a person to threaten criminal prosecution in order to gain
5 advantage in a civil case.

6 About a week ago, Mr. Ciccarella's matrimonial lawyer,
7 who is sitting in the courtroom today, received a phone call
8 from Mrs. Ciccarella's attorney saying that Mrs. Ciccarella was 9 at the post office about to file a letter, it's going to hurt
10 Mr. Ciccarella in the sentencing, unless Mr. Ciccarella
11 succumbs to the settlement demands of Mrs. Ciccarella.
12 Fortunately, Mr. Ciccarella's lawyer said do what you have to 13 do, and so she did. She sent that in. That's an extortion,
14 it's illegal, it's unethical for the lawyer to have done that.
15 I have Mr. Ciccarella's matrimonial lawyer in court now to 16 attest to what I'm telling you.

17 THE COURT: I'm not going to get involved in a
18 matrimonial issue.

19 MR. KESTENBAUM: Exactly. I don't think this is the 20 place to try that. I think it is completely inappropriate to 21 consider anything in that letter, other than to understand --

22 THE COURT: It might have been helpful, though, if 23 Mr. Ciccarella had given Mr. DiMaria, the probation officer, a
24 response to his request to see his wife.

25 MR. KESTENBAUM: Mr. DiMaria did speak to

H333CICS

Sentence

1 Mrs. Ciccarella on the telephone. He was on the telephone with 2 her.

3 THE COURT: He asked for her address, he wanted to 4 visit her. And Mr. Ciccarella did not give the address, did
5 not give the phone number.

6 THE DEFEDANT: Your Honor, this is news to me.

7 THE COURT: This is aside from things. I'm dealing
8 with your case, I'm not a matrimonial judge.

9 THE DEFEDANT: I understand.

10 THE COURT: This is a matrimonial issue for some place
11 else. But the issue that I come away with is that you tried 12 couples therapy a few times, and you were cheating immediately
13 afterwards. And you said it yourself.

14 THE DEFEDANT: Yes. I fully agree that that aspect of 15 her letter is correct, that there was infidelity.

16 THE COURT: How do I deal with this explanation that 17 Mr. Kestenbaum gives me that what you did was prompted by an 18 extreme set of anxiety and an addiction to opioids? It seems 19 to me that has nothing to do with the case.

20 THE DEFEDANT: Your Honor, as far as that goes the -- 21 are you aware of the psychiatrist that I was seeing prior?

22 THE COURT: No. I'm not aware of the psychiatrist you
23 were seeing prior.

24 THE DEFEDANT: He's in the --

25 THE COURT: I am aware of a very substantial tax

H333CICS

Sentence

1 fraud. That's what I am aware of.

2 THE DEFEDANT: And that's why I'm here.

3 THE COURT: Yes. So you heard me go through the 4 sentencing with Mr. Oberry, right?

5 THE DEFEDANT: Yes, I did.

6 THE COURT: Mr. Oberry also wanted to have time
7 served. You didn't serve any time. He had served some six
8 months or so. I didn't give it to him. I gave him a custodial 9 punishment because I felt that there was a need to respect the 10 law. And the seriousness of the law that says that everybody
11 pays taxes. Mr. Kestenbaum pays taxes. Mr. Okula pays taxes.
12 I pay taxes. People who get a free ride by cheating on their 13 taxes cheat everybody else.

14 So, don't I need to respect the law in some fashion
15 and give you some degree of custodial punishment? What do you
16 think? What would you do in my shoes?

17 THE DEFEDANT: I think you're in difficult shoes to be 18 in. I mean, I'm 54 years old, I've paid many a taxes over my 19 career.

20 THE COURT: But you cheated.

21 THE DEFEDANT: For those years -- your Honor, you're 22 correct. During those years I cheated to salvage a business
23 that should have been closed. What I gained was I created a
24 mess for myself. I regret those decisions. There was no need
25 for those decisions. What that business meant to me, I don't

H333CICS

Sentence

1 know. But I did it. And forget about me not being in the 2 right frame of mind. I did it.

3 THE COURT: You have a 26-year-old son running the 4 business.

5 THE DEFEDANT: There were multiple --

6 THE COURT: He's grown up with the business and knows
7 all the things you do in the business. Why can't he run the 8 business when you're in jail?

9 THE DEFEDANT: There are four aspects to the business
10 in construction. Some of those businesses are large. For 11 instance, we did some work at Thurgood Marshall, while that was 12 under construction.

13 These are large, multimillion dollar projects.
14 There's operations that are needed, there is financing that is 15 needed, and estimating. It is a four-way thing in construction
16 as far as what we do.

17 He has grasped the engineering portion and he is 18 pretty good at operations. But can he handle all of it?

19 There is another business in play also called B.S.I.
20 It employs an equal amount of employees. That particular 21 business operates with me dictating which project should be
22 taken and for which clients. Some clients just don't pay
23 bills, and it is best to stay away. So I make decision-making 24 skills there also.

25 THE COURT: I'm sure you shared these with him.

H333CICS

Sentence

1 THE DEFENDANT: I have shared them with him.

2 THE COURT: I think it is a very good opportunity for
3 him to grow.

4 THE DEFENDANT: It might very well be, your Honor.
5 During this time period, I think what AnneMarie did not state,
6 that while her and her husband, my stepdaughter, I have cared
7 for her for four years in every way possible. She sits right
8 there.

9 THE COURT: There's any number of letters I've read,
10 Mr. Ciccarella.

11 THE DEFENDANT: Not that one.

12 THE COURT: That have told me what things you have 13 done for others. Employing people who could not be employed.

14 THE DEFENDANT: That's correct.

15 THE COURT: Employing people with severe disabilities.

16 THE DEFENDANT: That is correct.

17 THE COURT: Helping out where others did not help.
18 I'm very impressed with that.

19 It is a very difficult task I have to sentence
20 someone. Because I have the attitude that I'm never sentencing
21 bad people. I'm sentencing people who did bad things.
22 Nobody's 100 percent good or 100 percent bad. It is a
23 complicated mixture. And I have the task of sentencing you for 24 a serious crime. Otherwise, you are an outstanding citizen.
25 You own a business, you employ people, including a lot of

H333CICS

Sentence

1 people who would find difficulty getting employment elsewhere.
2 You show them respect, you show them leadership, you give them
3 dignity and money that they might not otherwise have. I
4 respect you for that. And the community respects you. Which 5 makes it all the more difficult for me to sentence you.

6 I've sentenced a lot of people. It's always
7 difficult. Because I wear a suit like you wear a suit. I wear
8 a shirt and tie the way you wear a suit and tie. I have a
9 family like you've got a family. I have friends like you have 10 friends. And to the whole panoply of friends and community, I
11 am a very good person as you are a very good person. So it can 12 easily be me in your shoes, which makes it so much more
13 difficult to sentence. I identify completely with you. Yet, I
14 must sentence you.

15 I think the obligation to pay taxes is basic to our 16 civilization. It makes it possible to have a lawful society.
17 You read every day of crimes and violence in our country. But 18 so much so in so many other countries where people can't get
19 out of their house without fearing their lives. Where the path
20 of getting food is strewn with threats and violence against 21 them.

22 In order to have a society, you must have money. You
23 must be able to pay what society requires. And its basic 24 functions of policing and other functions of making sure there
25 is a safety net under people. If people don't pay their taxes,

H333CICS

Sentence

1 they cheat each other. Your not paying taxes cheats me. If I
2 don't pay my taxes, I cheat you. It's as bad, in many ways, as 3 ripping off the delivery worker that the last fellow did.
4 You're ripping off everybody else by not paying your share of 5 taxes.

6 So I look upon this and I think the guidelines have it
7 right here. I think a year and a half, 18 months, is a just 8 sentence. I impose it.

9 I think you're going to have to reflect on what you
10 did and the seriousness of what you did. You just can't make 11 it good by paying the back tax. You've got to understand that 12 when you do something bad, you get punished. It's got to be a
13 lesson to everyone else. Everyone else is tempted to draw a 14 line and cheat a little bit, get an extra edge.

15 Where should it be served, Mr. Kestenbaum, at a 16 facility close to home?

17 MR. KESTENBAUM: As close to home as possible.

18 THE COURT: Which is very important here, because his 19 son is going to have to consult with him numerous times,
20 running his business and be responsible for employees.

21 MR. KESTENBAUM: Your Honor, in terms of time to
22 report --

23 THE COURT: I was going to ask that question.

24 MR. KESTENBAUM: Could I ask his matrimonial lawyer?

25 MR. OKULA: We have no objection to giving him a

H333CICS

Sentence

1 reasonable period of time to self-surrender, your Honor.

2 MR. KESTENBAUM: 30 days would be sufficient, your 3 Honor.

4 THE DEPUTY CLERK: April 11.

5 THE COURT: At 2 o'clock. April 11, 2017, at 2 p.m.
6 at the facility designated by the bureau of prisons.

7 I will impose a fine of $100,000. This is a financial
8 crime. It should not be a zero assessment of paying it back.
9 I don't know what the IRS will do. It can take into 10 consideration that the Court has imposed a $100,000 fine.

11 When can you pay it?

12 THE DEFENDANT: Two weeks, three weeks.

13 THE COURT: You can have more time if you need it.

14 THE DEFENDANT: Three weeks, your Honor.

15 Your Honor, are you saying to pay the fine or to come
16 up with a plan as to how it is to be paid?

17 THE COURT: To pay it.

18 THE DEFENDANT: Three weeks.

19 THE DEPUTY CLERK: March 31, payable by March 31.

20 THE COURT: Mr. Okula, I don't see any point in having 21 any supervised release in this case. There's no money that 22 will be due. The restitution has been paid. The fine will be 23 paid. Mr. Ciccarella can attend to his own psychological and 24 psychiatric needs. What point would be served by supervised
25 release?

H333CICS

Sentence

1 MR. OKULA: Judge, I take no position with respect to
2 that, so if the Court deems it appropriate that there be no
3 supervision, we're fine with that.

4 THE COURT: The only problem is the drug addiction.
5 What do you think, Mr. Kestenbaum?

6 MR. KESTENBAUM: I think at this point that's not
7 necessary, your Honor. I think he has that well in hand now.

8 THE COURT: Well, you never know with that. This
9 could be provided through the probation services. Let me
10 impose two years of supervised release.

11 The mandatory conditions are stated at the bottom of 12 page 20 of the presentence investigative report, and the 13 standard and special conditions stated at page 22, with the 14 following exceptions: There is no point to a search, the 15 condition will not be imposed. There's no amounts that will be 16 due, so the restrictions on new credit charges will not be 17 imposed. However, to the extent the probation officer seeks 18 access to requested financial information, that will be 19 required.

20 The provisions for participation in outpatient mental 21 health treatment and drug programs will be imposed.

22 The defendant is to report to the nearest probation
23 office within 72 hours of release from custody. He'll be 24 supervised by the district of his residence.

25 Mr. Ciccarella is assessed $100, which is the

H333CICS

Sentence

1 mandatory special assessment under the Crime Control Act.

2 I think that completes it except for notification of
3 right to appeal and dismissal of underlying counts. Have I
4 missed anything?

5 MR. OKULA: No, your Honor. And there are no
6 underlying counts.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Kestenbaum, have I missed anything?

8 MR. KESTENBAUM: No, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Punishment is so ordered.

10 I advise you, Mr. Ciccarella, that you have a right to 11 appeal. You are to discuss with Mr. Kestenbaum whether or not 12 you wish to appeal. If Mr. Kestenbaum is requested to appeal,
13 I instruct you to do so in a timely basis.

14 Thank you all for coming in to witness this session.

15 MR. OKULA: Thank you, your Honor.

16 MR. KESTENBAUM: Thank you, your Honor.
